Probably nowhere can a more proper application of the term "unsung heroes" be made than in describing the administration of an American high school.

Numerous are the frustrations of those whose responsibility it is to aid the learning process of future citizens. Perhaps this task of our instructors is not the most glamorous or even the most outwardly rewarding, but let them take comfort in this thought: throughout future years, many will be the times their former students will take a cherished glimpse back with this afterthought—"I couldn't have made it without them."

King Lear dated who?

English

Diagrams, paragraphs, themes... Caesar's "Et tu Brutus?"... Macbeth's ambition... essays, limericks, ballads, short stories, and novels... vocabulary and speeches... stimulating ideas and unconscious growth... those extra book reports... "I'll never find the time." But you do... films and class dramatized scenes... and don't forget that term paper... conferences and a genuine concern that each of us will experience and triumph in all aspects of our "Mother language."

Stab him in the heart and I'll drop the curtain.

What's the matter, Nancy? Can't you concentrate? Maybe if you'd take your books up to Brownie's...

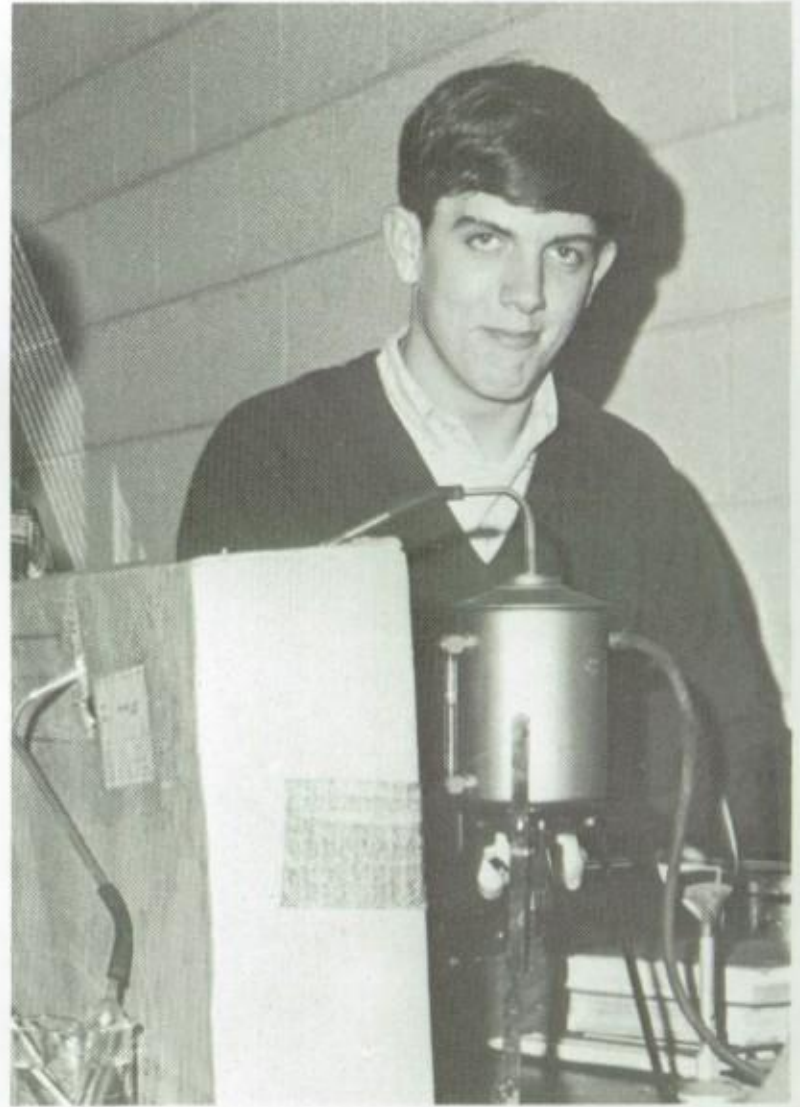

Don't panic, fella; Dally knows the solution.

math

"All these problems for homework?"... Protractors, compasses, rulers, tables, and chalk dust... The new math brings its own problems... equations and theorems and proofs... sudden insight and the satisfaction of mastering that problem... reports, too, on mathematicians and practical application of math in the past and today... parallel reading in the new supplementary books... filmstrips to enrich our study and to help us in solving our problems!

Science

Frogs and crayfish and formaldehyde... bugs and unidentifiable leaves... unbalanced equations... fumes from the lab... broken test tubes and burned fingers... field trips... an awareness and wonder at the world around us... study for those TV exams... pages of notes... "Could you please slow down?"... reports on scientists... filmstrips and films to give color and life to many classes... drawings and more drawings—the results of all this will be tomorrow's scientists?!

Hey boys, what you got brewing?

Grow, little plants; please get bigger!

Social Studies

If we are to live in the world of tomorrow, we must be acquainted with yesterday and today. If we are to know ourselves, we must know others—and so we study history, economics, sociology, civics, and government. Informal and stimulating discussions...TV class presentations...parallel reading reports...special projects...films, filmstrips, and recordings relative to specific subject of the day—these class activities motivate us in our thinking and make events of yesterday and today more meaningful to us.

Well, I'm going to take a trip to France.

But what if we thought you said not to study the dates?

Exercise...ugh... and they say it's good for you!

Come on... what's holding up the game?

Physical Education

Those freshmen who might have previously believed in the old adage concerning a "healthy mind and healthy body" begin to have their doubts about the necessity of the body part somewhere about the 50th lap around the gym floor! Suffer as they may, they know that their physical training will be helpful to them by increasing their agility and keeping them in shape... Well, Faye, if your gym pants weren't so tight, they wouldn't have split!... use Right Guard, and skip the showers... Fitness queens??!!... Mr. West, would you believe we finished our exercises?

The form of a pro??!!

Don't knock it—we need the extra credit.

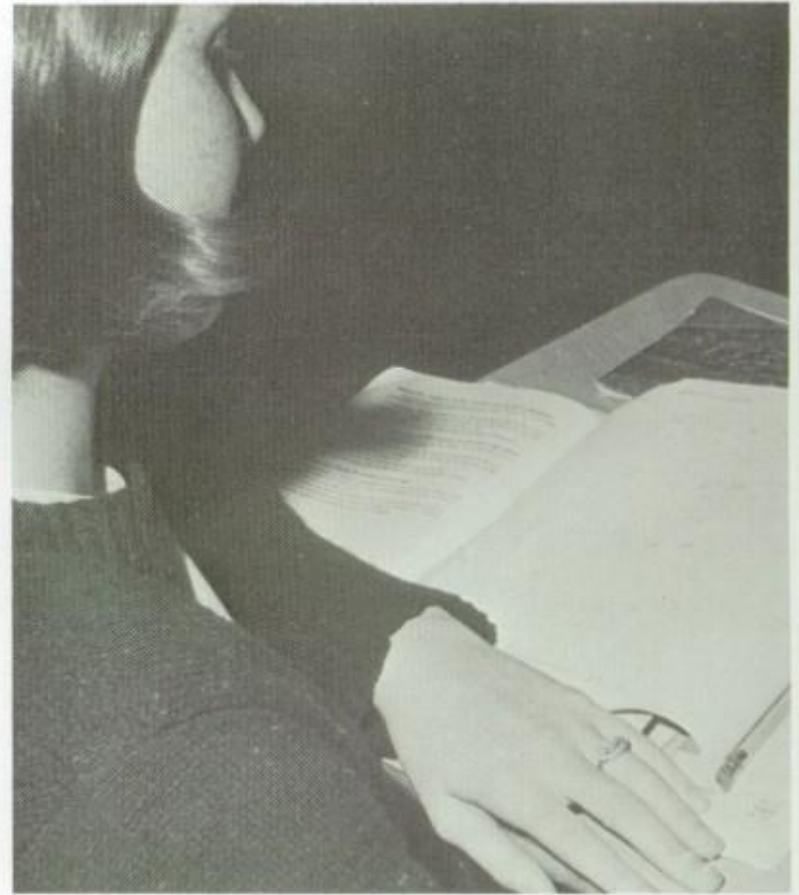

Why can't there be a universal language?

french

Vocabulary and vocabulary... "Repeat" ...singing carols in French... "but it's all Greek to me"... Records and tapes to atune that listening ear... pop quizzes—"you must keep up"... projects on country and people to find out about our neighbors and prepare us for better relations in a world growing closer together.

A new building with lots of new equipment... "type, type, type—practice, practice, practice..." "But I can't transcribe my notes!"... columns that must balance... credit and debits... letters, all kinds of letters... vocabulary, punctuation and spelling... accuracy is the thing that really counts... upon completion of the business courses, students are qualified to assume responsibilities in the business world or to pursue further training in the business area.

If this is supposed to balance, I'm sunk.

Business

She forgot to say "STOP."

Why go to a doctor when you can stitch yourself?

Long hours preparing for the Christmas floats... Let's leave for work five minutes early to check "Brownie's"... Cooperation for city, business and industrial plants with department instructors... Milking cows, but I wanted to pump gas!... reading and special reports... setting up attractive displays... diagrams, drawings, and sales talks that are acceptable to Mr. Clark and Mr. Collins... Preparing a display for the State Fair... Who nailed my shirt to this board?... anybody want to be a scarecrow for the cornfield?... anybody seen my transmission?... learning agricultural skills... studying new farming methods... planting crops—and hoping!

Vocational

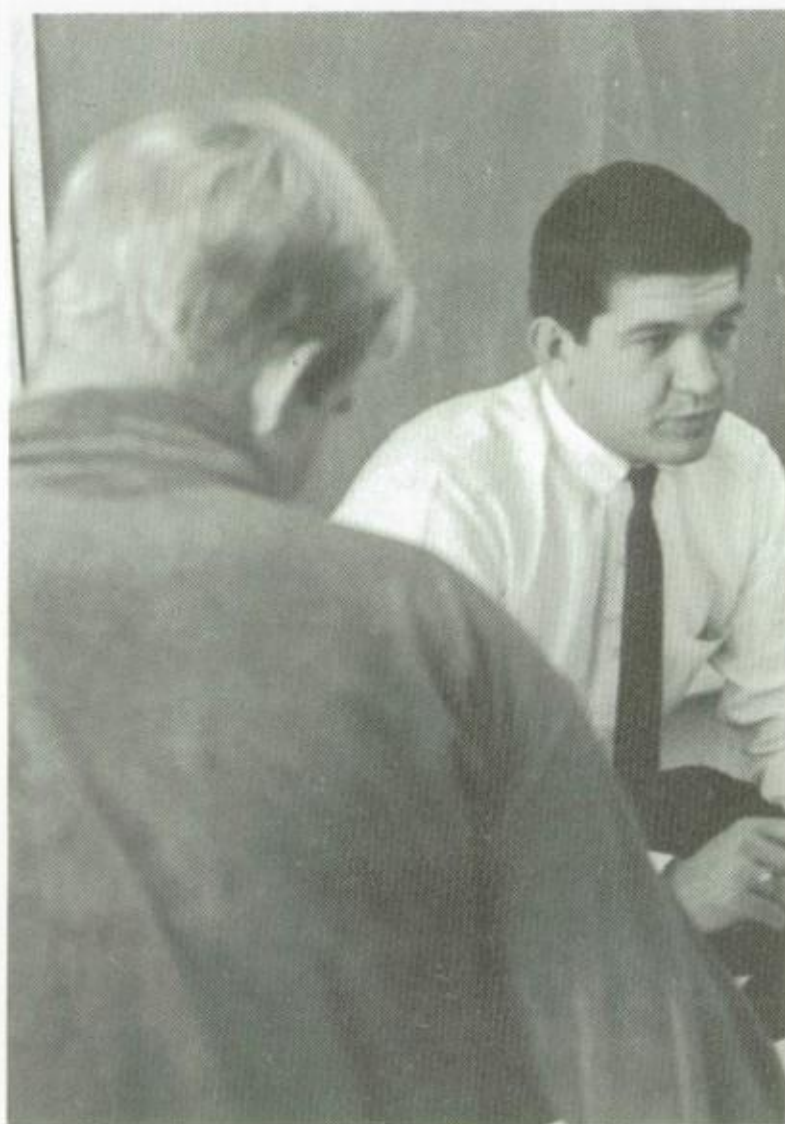

Hot isn't the word!

Eighteen inches above the knee ought to be short enough.

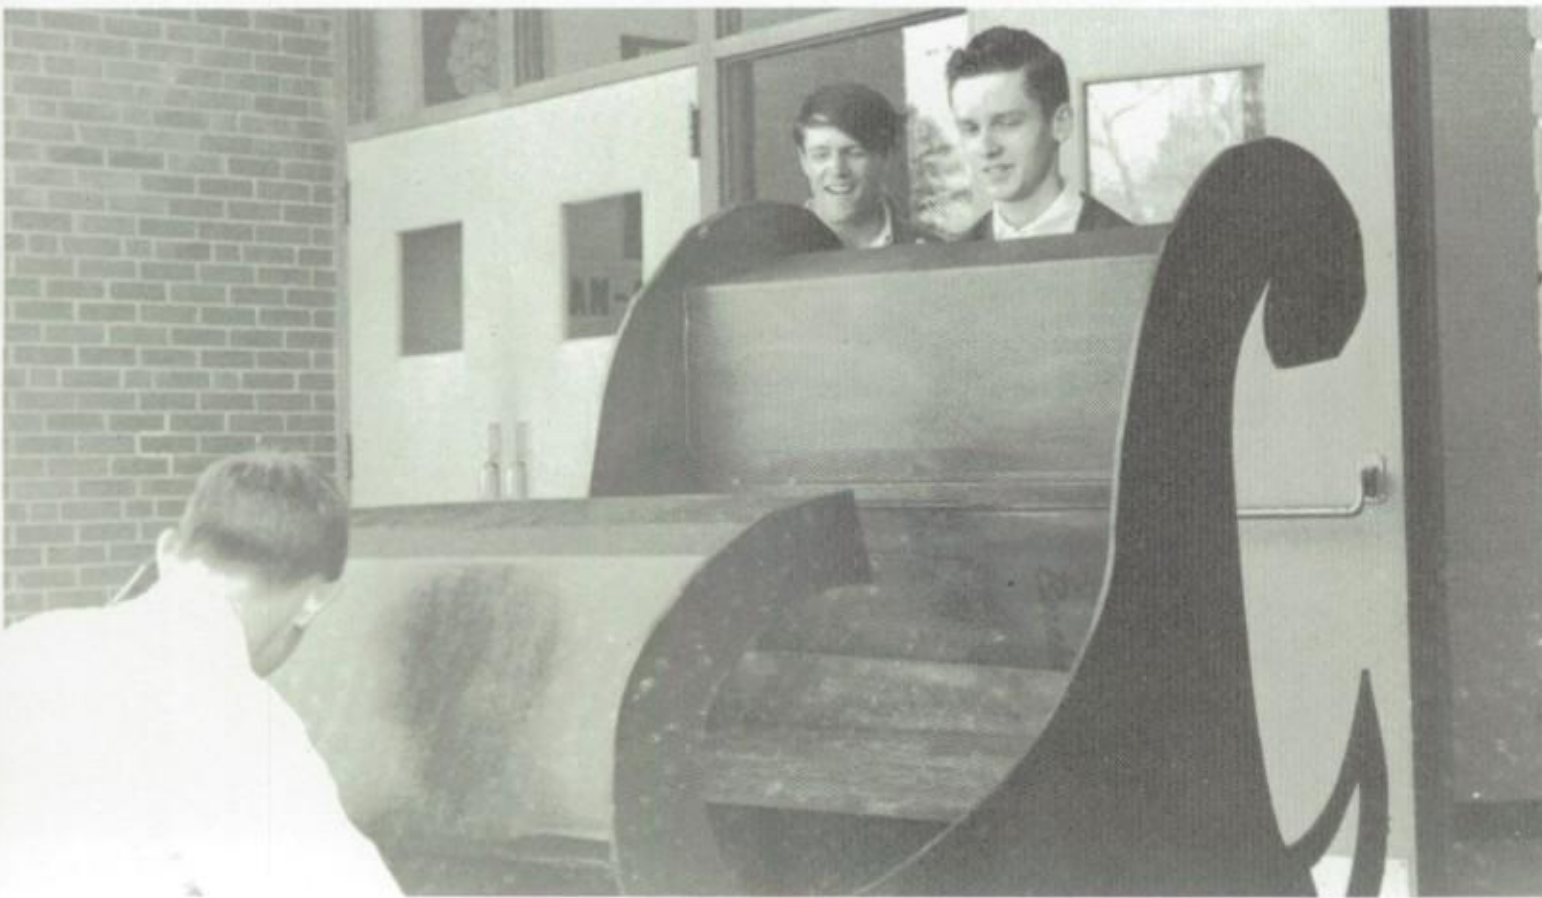

Vocational

Boys, take my advice about those bucket seats...

"Don't ever stitch over a pin"... delightful aromas radiating from the kitchen... dress rehearsals for mothers after dresses and suits are finished... hours and hours of preparation for the Christmas tea for faculty and mothers... informative discussions in family life... presentation of up-to-date information on sewing and cooking techniques... new, colorful department with the most modern equipment and conveniences... get that Brillo pad out of the beans!

Styling hair, make-up, and self-improvement are characteristic of our new cosmetology department... what color shall my hair be today?... I can't open my eyes, the mascara's too thick... I like polka-dotted fingernails!

How much would it cost to rent a reindeer?

Well, Shirley, what did you expect, a miracle?!?

Tommy, are you trying to lay down on the job?

The number and variety of a school's organizations and clubs serve as an excellent indication of the true spirit present within the school. Through our organizations, we students have a chance to express ourselves and listen to others and their contrasting ideas. It is this opportunity for self improvement that acts as the "icing on the cake", extending beyond the "reading, writing, and arithmetic" of day to day school procedure. We are proud of the progress made by our clubs, a wonderful combination of fellowship and different learning processes that will mean much to the students, now and in future years.

Organizations

Student Council

Our Student Council has become a vital part of school life, serving to improve faculty-student relations... is Pat laying out of this meeting, too?... Steve, behave, you're Sergeant-at-Arms!... who swiped the monitor's desk?—if you don't tell, you'll be sent to the Student Faculty Advisory Committee... celebrate homecoming right—bring the Hot Nut's album... Lee, you get to ride with Mrs. Myers to Kinston... Bill, will you quit flirting with Dally and set up this committee!... planning for entertainment after games... looking forward to attendance at summer workshop at Mars Hill...

Santa Claus visits the special education class at Paul Braxton School for a Christmas party—another student council project.

Phantomaire Staff

The assistant editors are Mary Newman, Sports; Sue Johnson, Layout; Cindy Thornburg, Copy; and Mitchell Simpson, Assistant Editor.

A never to be forgotten experience—working on the annual...we've just got to get organized!...how can we get that on 148 pages?...they're three weeks overdue...we can't possibly fit the copy into that little space...pepsi on the layout book...Pat, quit popping your knuckles!...vertical pictures in horizontal spaces...you mean copy was supposed to be double-spaced?...Sue, can't you spell anything right?...That color, Robert?...what's your excuse this time, Jimmy? never meet the deadline!...hey, they're finally here!...

These random thoughts recall to the staff members days, and days, and days of fun, and—work, believe it or not! But if the results of our labors bring a smile of approval or help recall for you pleasant events or faces that have eluded your memory, then we will feel that our time has been well spent.

Ah, the gossip column—who are Benny and Paula mad at this week?

After weeks of hard work by the school paper staff, the Blue and White Echo is circulated among the student body, with all the news, gossip, and song dedications of Jordan-Matthews . . . I think you'd better proofread this again, Paula . . . wasn't something left out . . . who put that in about me?

"Learning to do, doing to learn, learning to live, living to serve." FFA members are learning to live by this motto through the various activities ranging from tool identification to parliamentary procedure drills. . . just because you raised the cow, don't be prejudice in the judging. . . If I learn the creed, can I get measured for my ring? . . . after initiation—if you're able!—you put two two-barrels on your father's tractor!!! BUS DRIVERS

The Bus Drivers give of their time and energy to provide efficient transportation for us every day...key, kid, find your seat and sit down...stop that fighting in the back of the bus...get your head back in the window or I'll report you...pick up that paper or you'll sweep the bus...Because of their untiring efforts to serve us well, their services deserve a great vote of thanks.

Achievement: The prize gained through diligent endeavor; the recognition of superior accomplishment in the areas of scholastics.

It is only fair that to those who have shown unusual abilities in their work should go the prize of recognition.

Achievement at one stage of life is often indicative of success later on. Thus, honors received in high school are a favorable sign of things to come; and so we extend our congratulations and respect to those among us who have risen to this position of admiration and honor.

Achievement

marshals

Outstanding Typist

By maintaining an average of 3.6 throughout their high school years, these senior girls have earned the highest positions of honor in scholastic achievement. Through the development of this Honor Group an increased number of students are now recognized.

The Outstanding Typist is chosen by Mrs. Allie G. Fletcher, commercial teacher, for work excelling that of the average student. Janice has shown distinctive effort in typing, both in speed and in accuracy.

In a student election sponsored by the Optimist Club during Youth Appreciation Week, honorary mayor and town commissioners were elected. These students had the opportunity to observe city government in action when they later attended a "live session" of the town board. Students achievement in state and national contests brought honor to both themselves and their school.

Throughout the history of Jordan-Matthews, the term "athletics" has come to mean more than simply trying or testing physical ability—it has come to symbolize success. We are proud of our coaching staff, proud of the interest exhibited by the school and community, but most of all, proud of the determination and triumph that have gradually come to be tradition at Jordan-Matthews.

It is our goal to be gallant in defeat, but above all determined to conduct ourselves in such manner as to bring honorable acknowledgment to our school and its students.

Team work and rugged determination were key attributes of the J-M varsity squad this year. Overcoming the loss of about twelve starting players, and at times having only fourteen eligible varsity players in the game, the Phantom gridgers triumphed to a fine season.

Rebounding from a bitter 20-3 loss to non-conference Sanford, the J-M boys sent archrival Liberty back home 7-6. The Phantoms disgraced Southern Pines 48-7 and the West Montgomery Warriors 28-0, only to be robbed 12-7 in the last seconds by East Montgomery. North Moore bowed 34-7, as did Union Pines 21-13 at Homecoming. Scorching the Aberdeen Red Devils 21-6 the week before, the Phantoms traveled to Rohanen, but Lady Luck was absent and our boys were handed a 40-6 defeat.

Mike jumps for two for the Big Blue...

Let's get those hands on the ball, boys!...A slight entanglement in the Rohanen game.

Faced with the problems of inexperience and lack of height, the Phantoms suffered a rather hard season. Defeats outnumbered victories, but the Big Blue displayed unfailing hustle and gained much valuable experience. Although four seniors will be leaving the scene, including high-scorer and Captain Phil Leonard, next year's ranks have a better outlook. High hopes for next season—right, boys?

Bill leaps for two against the North Moore Mustangs.

Managers Rose Rodgers and Jayne Atkinson, Coach Guy Smith.

Showing Big Blue skill and determination, the Lady Phantoms kept bringing those conference victories home all season. Next year's team holds great promise, also, since only co-captains Georgia Elder and Betty Ferguson graduate this year. Congrats for a fine season, girls!

"Don't I know you from somewhere?"

Debra Corder in a rather desperate situation in the North Moore match.

"Okay, we'll play catch," snickers Georgia.

Golf

With returning lettermen Jimmy Cox, Mike Key, Bill Hackney, and Steve Brooks bearing the main load, J-M's golf team aspires to a better record than last year's. Frosh Jimmy Brewer, Joe Williams, Bill Northington, and Tommy Duncan will back up the starters.

".....no, I didn't steal your other ball, Brooks."

"....maybe it went in the pond, Winkie?"

Ace Jimmy Cox demonstrates his masterful form.

Strong wind that day. Right, Steve?

Left to right: Buddy Fields, Benny Johnson, Billy Andrews, Billy Buckner, Charlie Hart, Mike Jones, Ray Johnson.

Baseball

Each spring there is a re-occurring fever which only those who love baseball can share; those at J-M who possess this love form our Big Nine. The starters, having seen much action in past seasons, hold great expectations for a fine sandlot season.

Stalwart Billy Buckner winds up for the pitch past Benny Johnson to catcher Charlie Hart.

First baseman Mike Jones catches Buddy Fields playing off the bag.

Fielder Bill Andrew snags a fly ball.

Track

Track, as a varsity activity, is not one of the most long-established sports at J-M. However, there is a growing amount of interest and participation in track each spring. Over the years we have produced several outstanding thin-clads, and we look forward with confidence to the prospects of this year's team.

Pole vaulter Truman Duncan readies for the run.

Phantom stars Steve Moore, Raymond Johnson, and Steve Short await the whistle.

Steve Hughes gets all up in the air about his broad jumps.

Coach Bill West.

To highlight the year and add variety and flavor to the students' school life, there is an annual selection of various outstanding students. It is the responsibility of those selected to uphold the highest standards of our school at all times in the continuing effort to maintain a healthful school spirit.

JUDY DIANE EVANS

The four classes of high school offer as classic example of development as can be assembled.

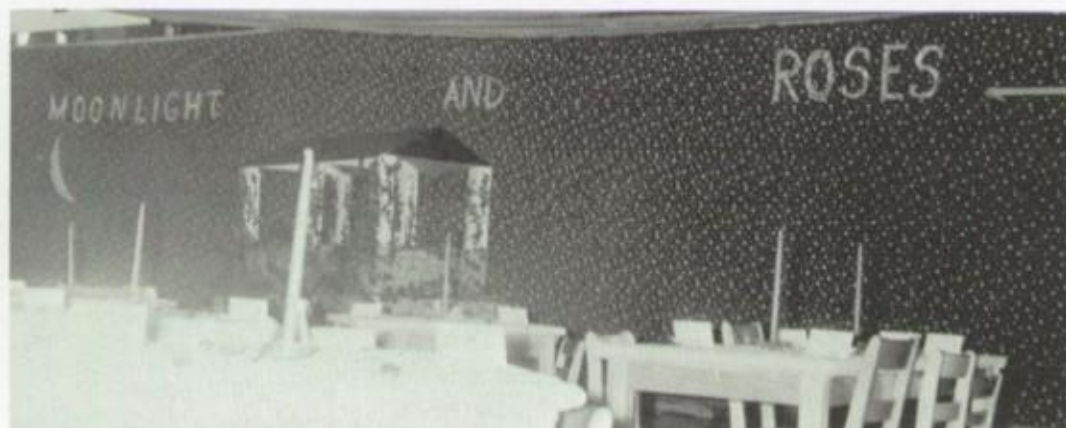

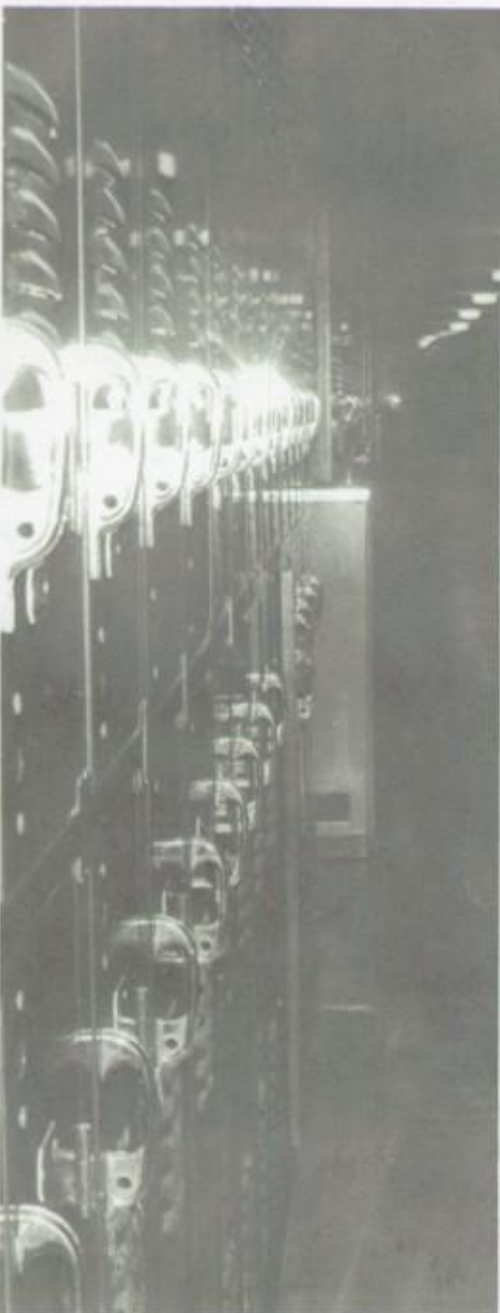

The freshman year brings with it added responsibilities, but, more important, extra freedom and association with the "big kids" of high school. Clumsiness seems to be inherent in freshmen, but it is just one of those painfully wonderful processes to be endured.

Sophomore-itis strikes full force with that wonderful feeling of "we own this place." There is also the advantage of no longer being the youngest members of the student body. Sophomores find themselves with more influence in the affairs of their school.

As juniors, there is a very acute awareness of things to come. The responsibility of choosing a college looms ominously before those education minded students. Juniors feel at ease in their dealings with school affairs and have only the seniors to consider as upper classmen.

The dignified, stately seniors, chewing bubble gum as they write their term papers, are looked to as examples by their fellow classmates. Along with their relation and pride at attaining this cherished position, there is a traditional wisp of sadness as they turn one last time to look at their four memorable years at Jordan-Matthews.

Without the contributions made by many of our local merchants, this edition of the Phantomaire could never have gone to press. We students have a great deal of pride in the businesses and firms in the Siler City area, and we realize what a large part they play in the growth and prosperity of this section. For the support they have shown we extend our sincere appreciation.
